Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 20-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 20, lines 4-5, it is not clear as to what is being defined by "...structural connectors, each operatively associated with one of the exterior wall panels". What, specifically, is being defined by "operatively associated with"?

Claim 34, lines 4-5, it is not clear as to what is being defined by "...structural connectors, each operatively associated with one of the exterior wall panels". What, specifically, is being defined by "operatively associated with"?

Claim 38, lines 4-5, it is not clear as to what is being defined by "...structural connectors, each operatively associated with one of the exterior wall panels". What, specifically, is being defined by "operatively associated with"?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3673

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 20, 21, 23, 24, 26-31, 33-36, 38, and 39 are rejected under 35

U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pracht et al. Pracht et al. Discloses, Figs. 1, 4, 7, and 12 for example, an exterior wall system having a plurality of structural connectors, in the form of anchor frames 32, each coupling an exterior panel 22 to a single story 64/66 of the structure. A plurality of elongate "seismic decoupler joints" 46/74 comprise the sole connection between adjacent panels 22 with the joints allowing movement between panel members 22. Joints 46/74 are inherently removable thus, "removably securable" to the panels 22. The joints can be seen as a continuous flexible gasket having an elongate central portion 74 connected between elongate locking portions 46 with the locking portion 46 connected to the exterior wall panels 22. The exterior panels 22 comprise concrete, stone or glass cladding panels 28, (ceramic and porcelain constituting concrete). Rotation-accommodating face cap is at 78.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pracht et al. To have utilized a concrete cladding panel within the curtain wall assembly of Pracht et al. thus utilizing an old and well known hard-wearing material as the external façade, would have constituted an obvious expedient to one having ordinary skill in the art as taught by Pracht et al. at col. 1, lines 14-21.

Claims 22, 25, 32, and 37 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
